LEADERSHIP POEM

*As I sat in my spring-time garden
And gazed into the starry heavens
I noticed one star wobble
And begin to tumble
Down
Down
Down.
I cupped my hands
Pretending I could catch it
As it fell.
Then astounded I watched as it plunged
To the horizon and lay glistening
In the palm of my hand.
I could not stop gazing upon its brilliance
A treasure of treasures
Worth more than any jewel.
Then glancing upward where it had been
I saw only blackness
And was saddened.
Strange how empty the sky seemed
With that one pinpoint gone.
I looked again at my bright star
And somehow I liked its glitter
In the heavens
Far better than in my hand.
So I decided to surrender my prize
And paste it back on the sky.
I reached out my arm—
Not long enough.
I swam the sea—
Not near enough.
I climbed the highest mountain—
Not high enough.
I placed a ladder against a cloud
And climbed and climbed and climbed.

Each step brings me closer to my goal
Nearer my shining destination.
Though I am tired I will not cease
Reaching ever upward.
Those who are like me will follow.
On every rung of the ladder
An infinite string spanning the chasm
Between earth and heaven.
My star will lead the way
Beckoning
Urging
Follow, follow, follow.*

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Dedicated Business and Professional men active in community affairs render great service to our school by capable supervision and administration of our school system. Anticipating future needs, spending within the budget, and promoting the high educational quality of Elizabethtown schools characterize board efforts in the development of superior educational opportunities for students.

Mr. Philip H. Daubert
Supervising
Principal

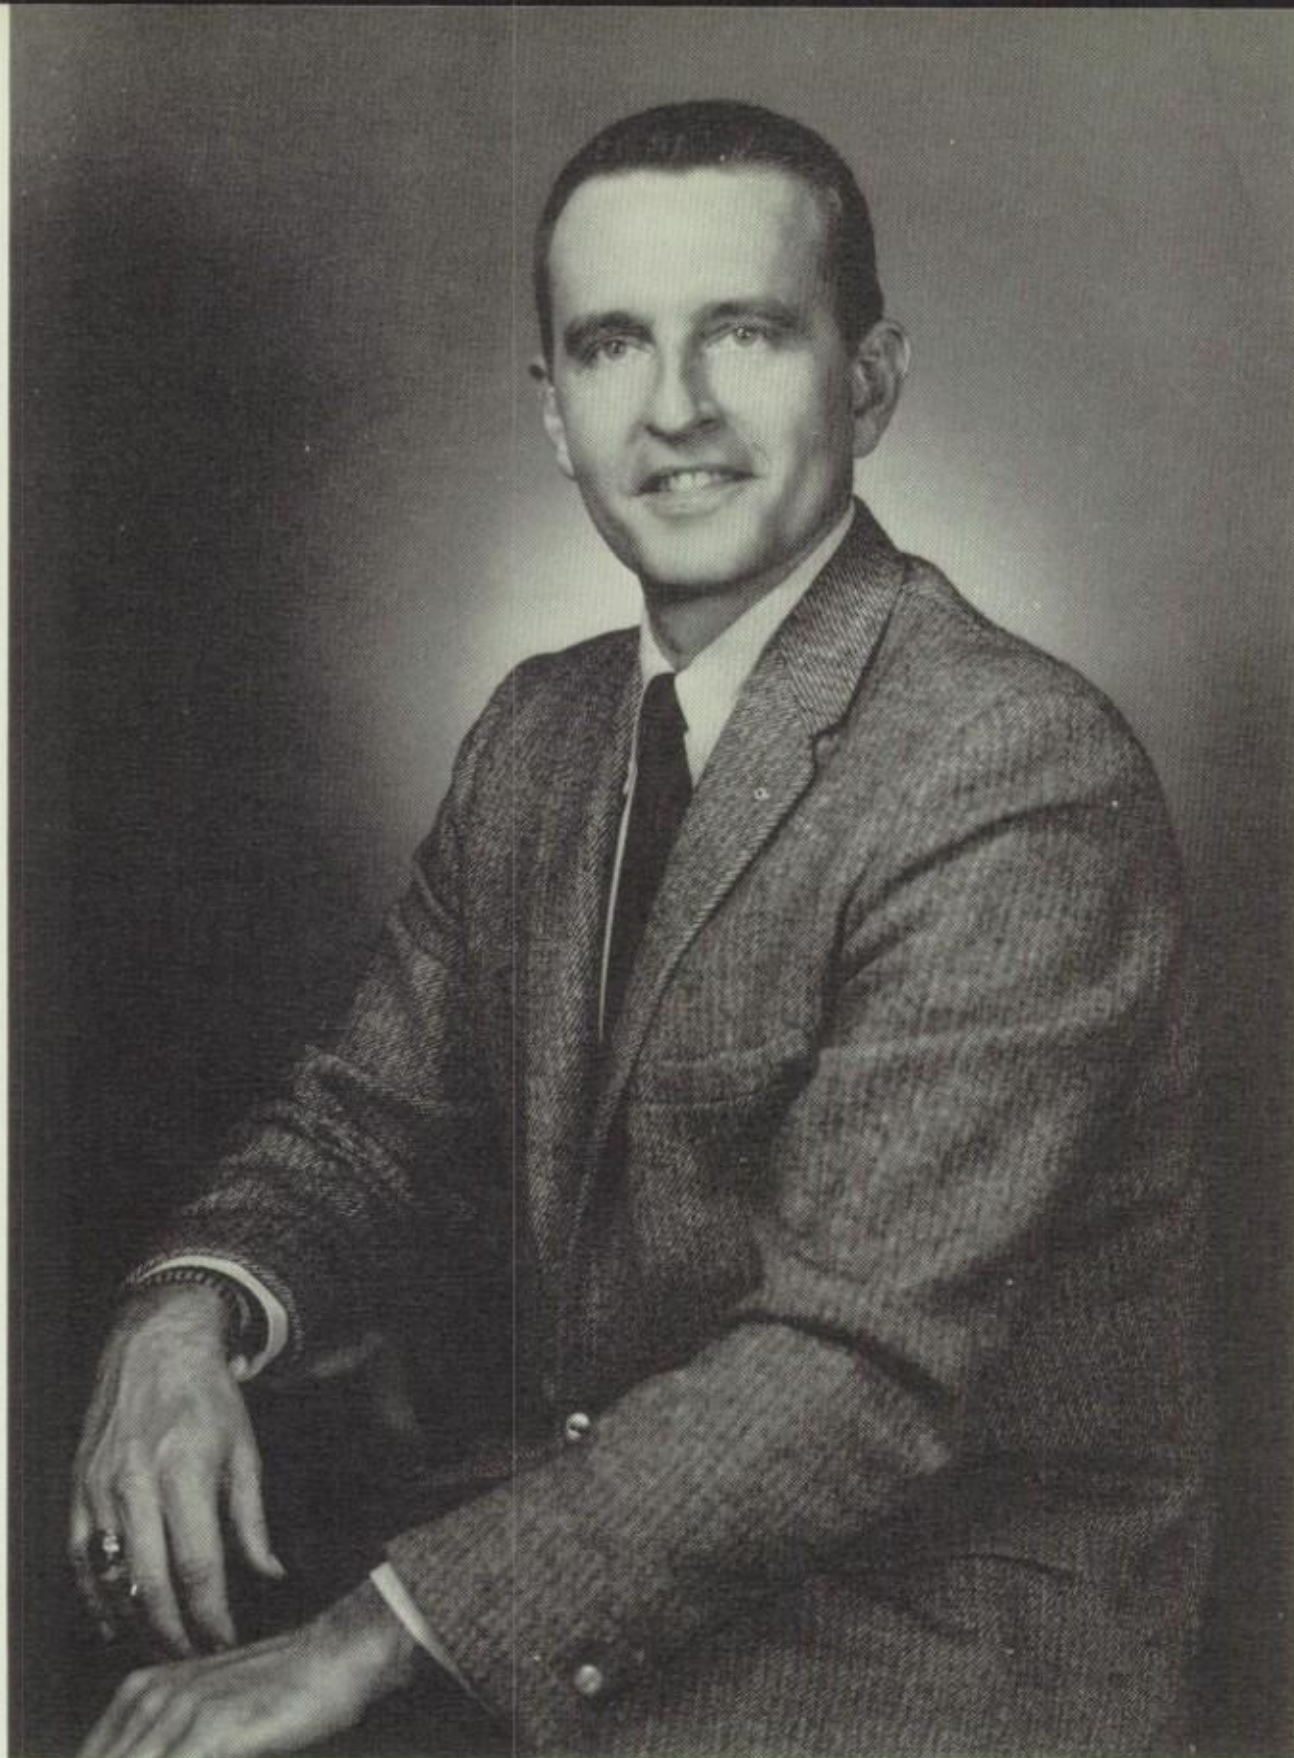

Rapid changes contemporary to a society characterized by confrontations on all levels will offer you challenges, responsibilities, and opportunities far beyond those of any preceding graduating class.

The combined efforts of your faculty, of your administration, and of your School Board, along with the guidance and support of your parents, have helped to prepare you for mature and responsible decisions in any and all conditions which may confront you.

Since graduation is also commencement, each of you now look forward to assuming a new role in the development, of your individual abilities and capacities toward becoming a contributing and constructive member in your own segment of society, whether it be in the local neighborhood, the worker in the business and individual fields, or the serviceman in the armed forces.

It is our sincere hope that we have instilled in each of you the physical courage, the spiritual and mental discipline, and the dedicated purpose to achieve the highest success and the greatest happiness in whatever field of endeavor you choose.

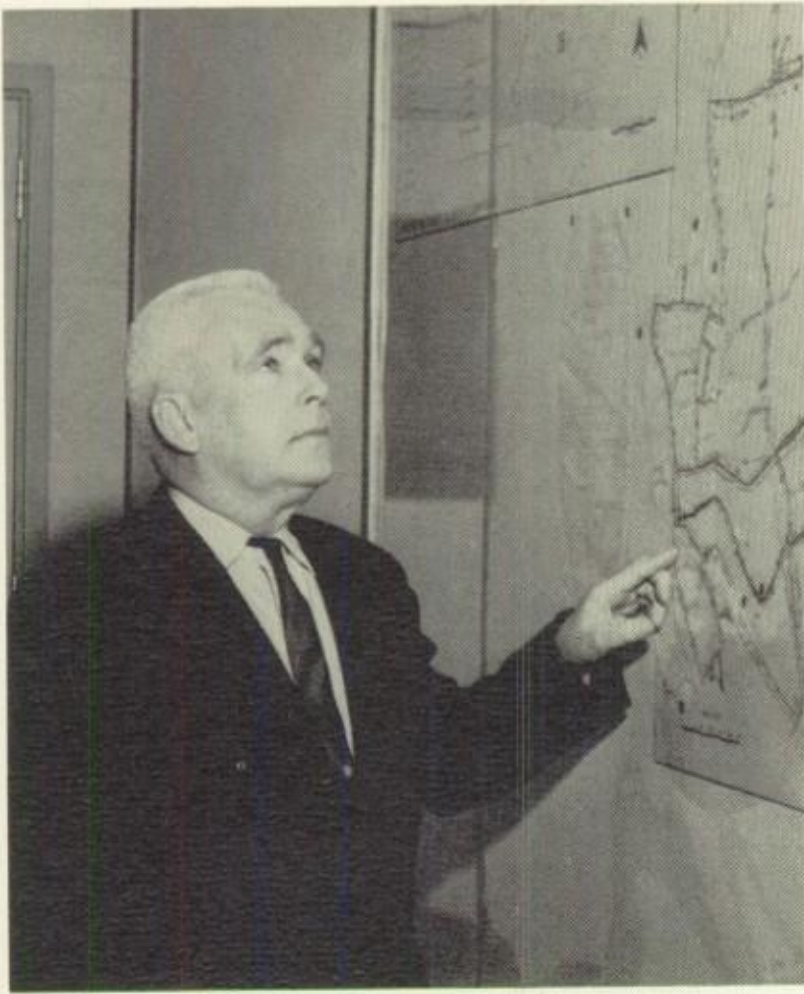

Our best wishes go with each of you as you face the future and the new and exciting world of tomorrow.

Mr. Dean R. Steinhart
High School Principal

Senior year, graduation, and then what? Many millions of individuals have graduated from schools all over the world. For each person the experience is unique. To some it holds great promise, for others it is the end of a journey, for still others it is the termination of a boring experience and the start of another. Your approach to this moment will reflect your attitude and probable accomplishments during your maturation. From this day on in your life, growth may be all that some of you will ever experience. However, others are sure to have periods of stagnation and even regression. Again, as in all things, the choice is yours.

Your growth potential is directly related to your enthusiasm for life, desire to succeed, and willingness to work and produce. Growth throughout life that is beneficial will be multi-dimensional. This would imply increase in many dimensions. Each of us should grow in wisdom, spiritual awareness, and in physical strength. If you fail to grow in any of these directions the excuses you will offer for rationalization will most likely parallel the same excuses you used back in school. If you expose yourself to many challenges your growth will be more observable and utilitarian. Through the active and dynamic life one may see the true results of education in the schools or in actual life. If you devote your life to such growth you will continually strive to push back the borders of ignorance, intolerance, social injustice, and bigotry of all types. My sincere wish for each of you is that you may ever strive to serve your God, Country and fellow man to the best of your ability.

Mr. Reynolds, Business Manager

Miss Anna Ruth Hess

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

According to Quintilian, the one characteristic of man which more properly distinguishes him from other animals is his ability to speak--to communicate with his fellows. LANGUAGE is our instrument of COMMUNICATION.

To listen, to write, to speak, to understand the printed page--these are the skills of the English classroom.

Carol Miller

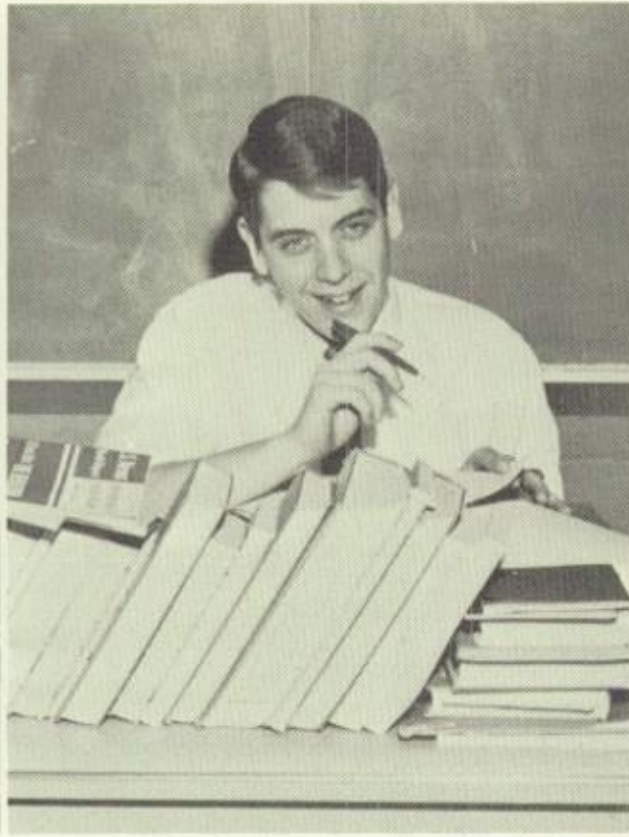

It is here we purpose

- To become aware of the power of words and to experience the thrill of arranging these words so that they really convey our ideas
- To discover from the writings of the past and of the present what other men think
- To bring together all the concepts we have studied and discovered up to this point, and finally, to see them and use them as interrelated parts working in unison.

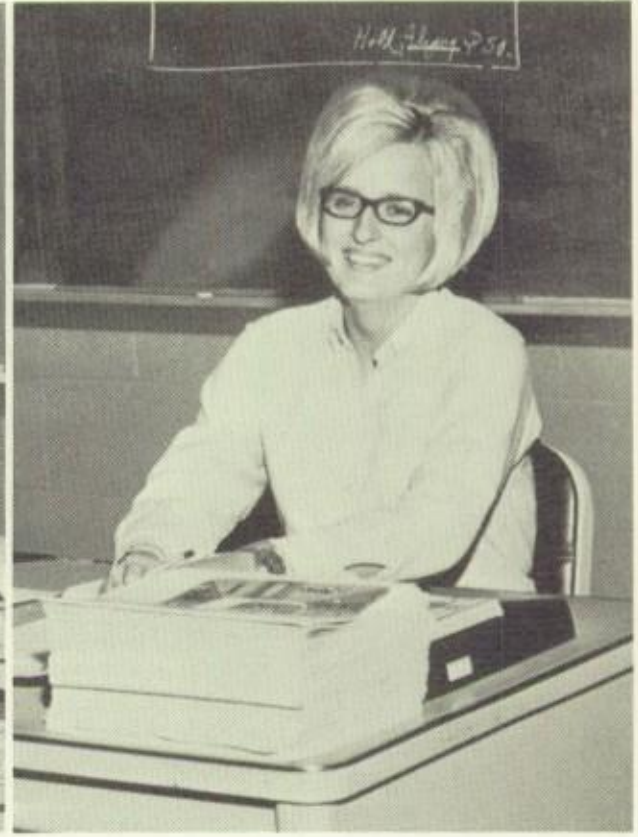

Language, then in use becomes a symphony of many instruments; each of us becomes the director.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

Dedication, academic preparation, competency, ingeniousness, initiative, versatility, aggressiveness, and personal ethics are the key criteria for success applicable to each member of the instructional staff.

Dale Blough

Naomi Ziegler

Kenneth Grahm, III

Dale Denlinger

Kenneth Umbenhauer

James Ziogas

Critical and analytical thinking in determining relevancy of fact and opinion, competency in economic and political areas, and the structuring of a more acceptable social order legally, morally, and spiritually are the criteria applicable to student education.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The foreign languages, French and German, mode of communication, can be studied for six years, from grade seven to and including grade twelve. Both languages are electives and at least two years of either one are recommended. The purpose of language study is to enable better understanding of the history and customs of the people, as well as to be able to read and speak the language for enrichment of experience.

MATH DEPARTMENT

Herbert Garber

Stanley Dotterer

Dean F. Kreamer

With an eye to figures, the math department no longer holds to the old slogan "it doesn't add up". Between the old math and the new math and pupil creativity there is an answer for everything.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

ESCP, BSCS, CHEM Study, CBA, PSSC! What are we trying to say? This is the alphabet of science. New names for the same old courses? No! New names, new courses, new content, new approaches. These are the modern approaches to teaching science. Not the traditional stereotyped question and answer approach. Our science courses are lab-centered. Why this approach? We are now interested in leading the student into the experience of learning by his own experimentation and discovery. From oceanography to space travel we permit the potential scientist to explore, seek the answer to the why's, and run the gamut of scientific investigation in all the areas contained in and beyond the areas mentioned above.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Noah M. Klauss

Gary Grimm

VOCAL MUSIC

Charles L. Millard

Greater sensitivity to musical values is developed under the competent direction of Mr. Klauss, Mr. Millard, and Mr. Grimm. Individual and group performance in vocal and instrumental skills is applicable to the whole range of student ability and interest. Each year, notable achievements and recognition characterize the efforts of student body and instructional staff in musical activity.

ART DEPARTMENT

Our aim is to guide young people toward art as a way of life--to recognize beauty wherever it may be and to develop high standards of good taste. This can best be accomplished by keeping art on a pleasurable basis.

Genuine appreciation cannot be imposed or "learned" like a multiplication table. Esthetic experience is due to a responsive attitude of mind.

HOME EC. DEPT.

A society such as ours faces problems connected with progress and change. Values in the home, community, and world are changing.

The role of Home Economics in the curriculum is to aid students in recognizing and accepting changes while stressing individual and family relationships.

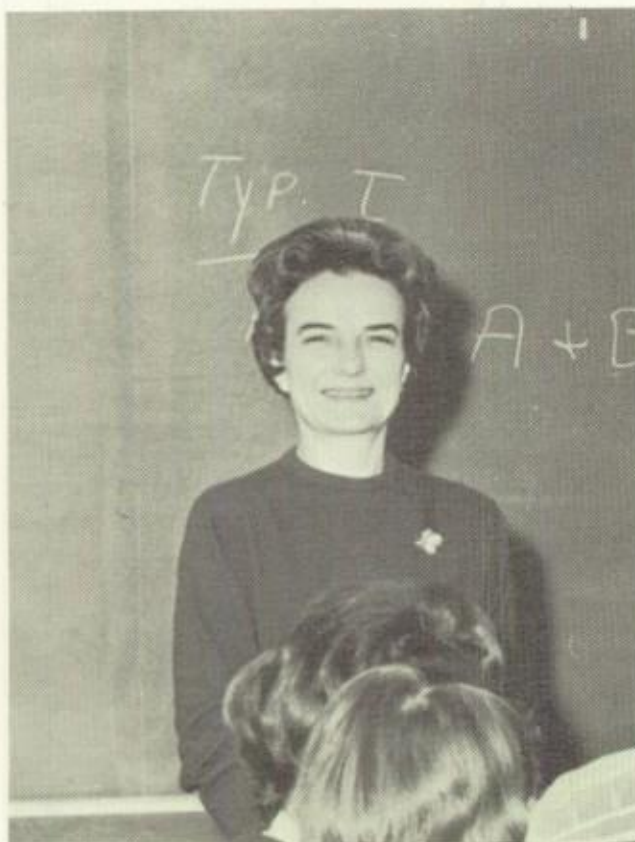

Elizabeth Donmoyer

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Marion Garman

Elsie G. Care

William T. Frantz

Carroll Kreider

Bookkeeping, stenography and secretarial work are the practical subjects comprising a sound business education. These courses are offered by the Business Department to provide greater proficiency for students preparing to enter the business community.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Student proficiency with respect to skills involving mechanical aptitude, manual dexterity, and a capacity for creativity are implemented under the instructions of competent staff personnel and modern facilities in our Industrial Arts Department.

AG. DEPT.

The Agricultural sector of the economy contributes increasingly finer quality of produce with greater diversification of products due to scientific farming practices, much of which is learned in our educational institutions. Both practical and theoretical aspects are taught in our Agricultural Shop and Field Program.

Elvin Hess

DRIVERS ED.

Safety education is the primary concern of our Driver's Ed Department. Behind the wheel and classroom instruction are maintained to supply future drivers better driving ability and security.

Paul Goss

DEVELOPMENTAL EDUCATION

All students are entitled to an education commensurate with their needs and capabilities. For those who are in the department of Development Education, the curriculum is planned so that the individual will be able to take his place in the workaday world and in the social life of the community.

GUIDANCE COUNSELORS

Guidance has as its function the total development of each individual. Through the utilization of all the facilities at our command, we work toward this objective. By making available the results of tests, surveys, and conferences, we hope to help each student toward a recognition of his potential and toward a desire to achieve it.

During this entire process of growth and maturation, students are encouraged to work closely with the counselling staff.

Mr. Enck

Mr. Warden

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANTS

Administrative proficiency on the leadership level characterizes both the theme and application of effort on the part of key personnel on the high school and district team. Complex functions unique to school activity move smoothly under such competent direction.

CLASS HISTORY

History of the Class of 1967

Betsy Madeira--Historian

In 1949 we were born. Our earliest years were carefree and full of sunshine. Then came that fateful day in September, 1955, when we tearfully and fearfully confronted that institution reputed to be a bond to endless drudgery--the school.

Soon, however, we discovered that school was not "all work and no play." We made friends and joined them happily for our favorite subjects--lunch and recess. We discovered the joy of learning and the sunny confidence of knowing things.

Each June, as our years in school progressed, promised lazy summer days. Although our groans accompanied the approach of September, we all secretly anticipated the beginning of a new school year with eagerness.

After six years of elementary school, we kissed recess good-bye and nervously entered our seventh grade homerooms in the fall of 1961. At first we were confused by the changing of classes and eight teachers instead of one, but by the close of our first year of junior high, we began to know our way around.

Eighth grade was a pleasant change. This time there was someone below us, and we were no longer low man on the totem pole.

By the end of our freshman year, we had gained identity as a class. We were on top, and the rest of junior high was our kingdom.

But we soon learned that where there's an end, there's a beginning. The fall of 1964 marked our debut as sophomores, and once again we were the babies of the school family.

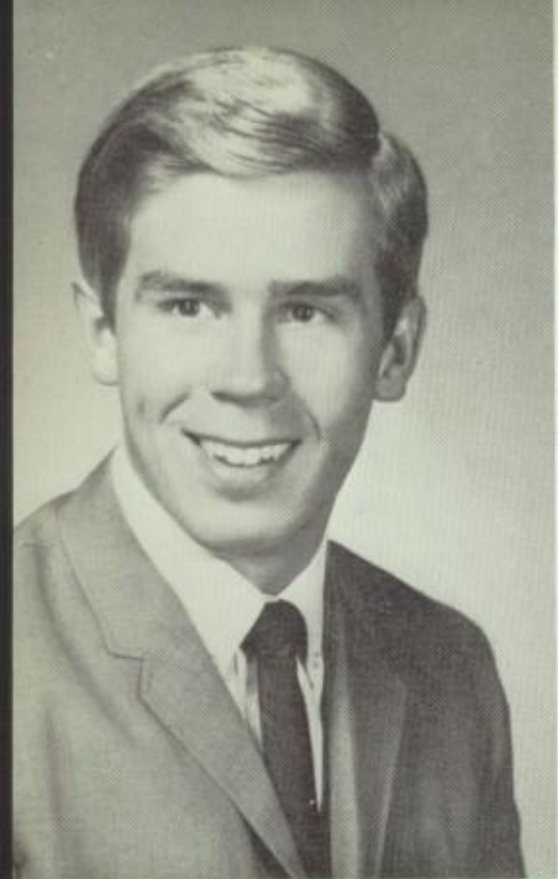

However, we felt surges of importance as we elected officers and invaded Philadelphia on our first class trip.

As juniors we threw condescending glances upon sophomores as we strutted into the auditorium for our first bloc. We elected officers and began our money-raising campaign by manning the food stands at sports events, putting on "Teahouse of the August Moon" for our class play, cooking for bake sales, washing cars and holding car smash contests. With our hard-earned money, we toured Washington, D.C., on April 22, 1966. On May 27, we transformed the lobby into a Roman paradise for the prom we hosted for the seniors on the theme, "Al de La," or "Song of Love". We dedicated a fountain to the school and spent our last dollars on a Bon Voyage Party for the out-going senior class.

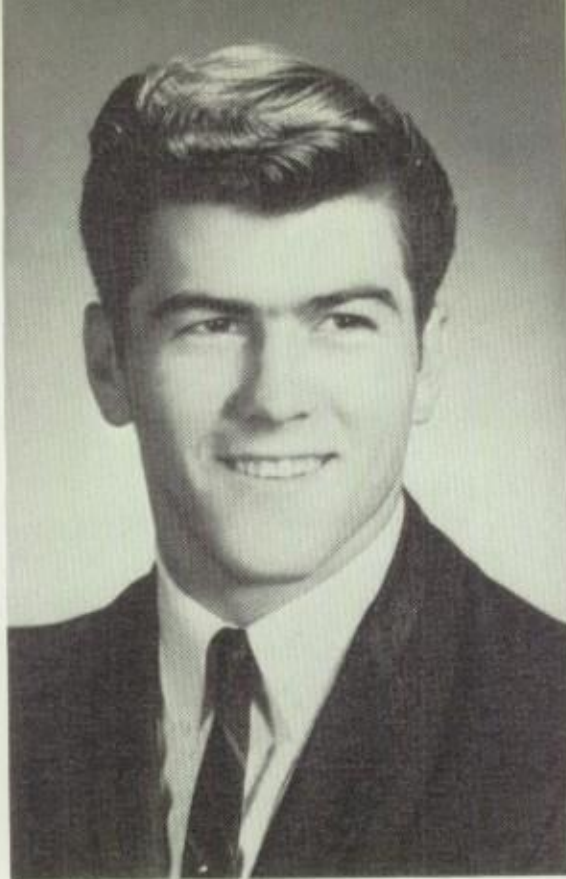

In September, 1966, we embarked on OUR final journey--our senior year. We took over the senior lounge, exchanged pictures, produced our class play, "The Enchanted," slaved over free-time projects, term papers and the yearbook, campaigned for the Youth Day in Government elections, and upheld our status as THE senior class.

"I hate school!" may more than once have been the comment closest to the tip of the tongues of some of us, but after our final activity as a class, our trip to New York City on June 2, we were stirred with nostalgia for years gone by. We were not ashamed of the tears and choked-up feelings that engulfed us on June 8, 1967, when we marched down the aisle of the auditorium to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance."

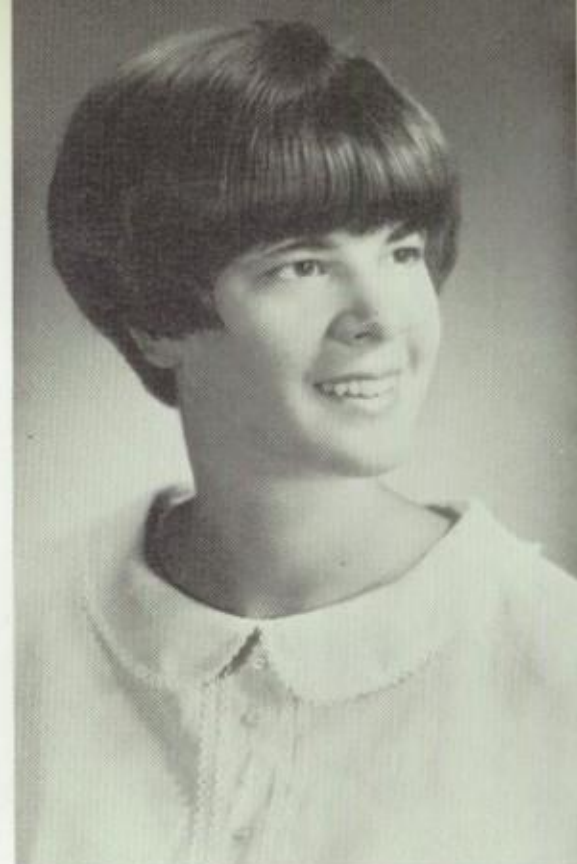

But where there's an end, there's a beginning. Graduation may have marked the close of our high school years, but now we will embark on the greatest journey of a lifetime--adulthood.

CAROL L. ALLEN

WE HAVE REACHED THE BAY, THE O-CEAN LIES BE-FORE US, WE ON-LY SEE CLEAR SKIES, WE

SING TO LIFE THIS CHO-RUS, WHAT-EV-ER WE MAY DO OR WHERE OUR PATHS MAY LEAD, WE

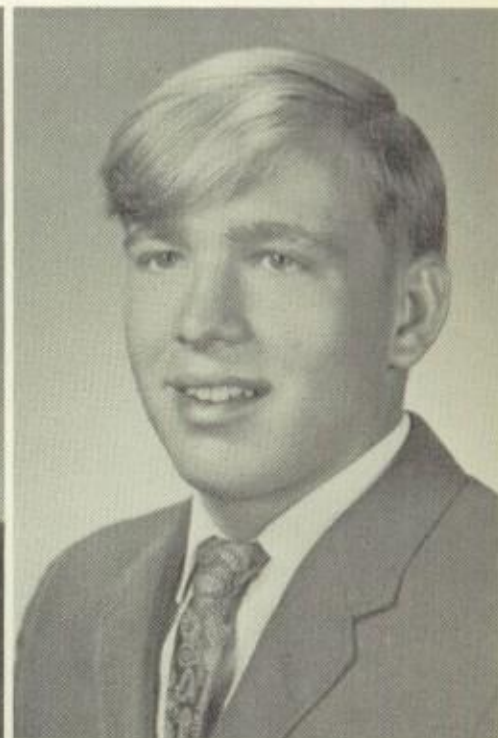

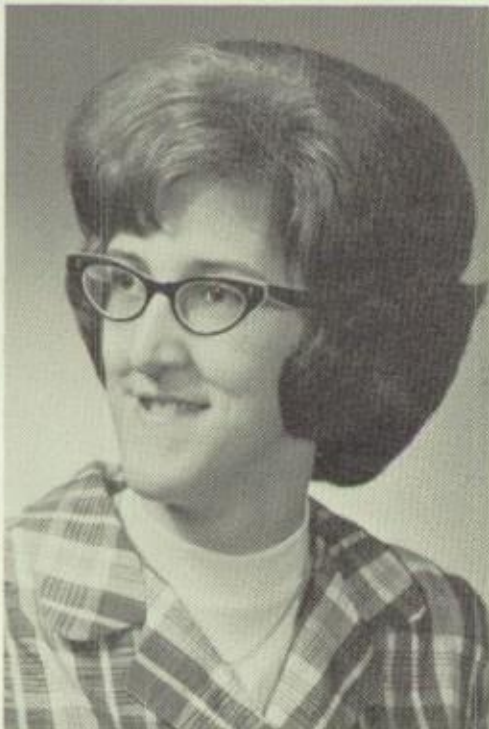

ON-LY ASK A CHANCE, THEN STRIV-ING WE'LL SUC-CEED. WE HAVE REACHED THE BAY, AND

NOW THE O-CEAN LIES BE-FORE, BUT WE CAN-NOT FOR-GET THOSE DAYS AS WE — SEEK THE DIS-TANT SHORE,

IN MEMORIAM

We, the graduating class of 1967, dedicate this section to the memory of our beloved friend and classmate, Shirley A. Becker, no longer living who will forever have a very special place in our hearts.

Even as winter drew to a close, snow still fell and the weather painted a bleak picture on nature's beautiful face. Yet the warmth of one girl's friendship, and the undying courage with which she faced God's call seemed to make the snow melt away. Why death chose a young, intelligent girl is a question we cannot hope to answer. We can only try to close the gap in our lives with a memory--the memory of a girl we shall love and cherish always.

HOCKEY TEAM GAINS LANCASTER COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

Championship hockey teams have characterized our girl's athletic program. Aggressive leadership, team spirit, and the will to win have produced a highly competitive field hockey team. Determination and drive by coach and team have enabled the girls to capture the county championship.

Mrs. Jane Hoover and Miss Lucy Williams are the Coaches.

JOHN MILLER GAINS 120-LB. REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Versatility features the wrestling ability of John Miller. John has developed a technique that quickly overcomes and startles his foe in a rapid attack which can adapt to many situations. As a 120 pound contender he has captured many local, sectional, and regional opponents. His success has popularized wrestling at Elizabethtown and promoted it as a major winter sport. Elizabethtown should be very pleased with John Miller's outstanding wrestling achievements and the fine tribute he has brought to the Elizabethtown athletic efforts.

GIRL'S TRACK

Girls not only give the boys the run around, but they are known to give each other a run around particularly during track season. This is a new sport for girls, which has been launched with much enthusiasm. Let's all help the girls to make track records by school support and team spirit.

ELIZABETHAN STAFF

Hard work under competent leadership is essential to the production of a high school annual. Ingeniousness, substantive creativity, aesthetical insight, common sense and practicality are combined with corporate energy to produce a true representation of student life. Each ELIZABETHAN must possess personality, individuality, and a sense of timelessness.

DANIEL A. HOOPERT

YEARBOOK TRIBUTE IN APPRECIATION FOR MANY YEARS OF SERVICE

Service to his school, to his community, and to his church have been the diligent efforts of Daniel A. Hoopert. Since 1956 he has capably directed the Elizabethan and advised the staff in production of many fine annuals. Until very recently he served as Senior Class Advisor and Business Manager. In this capacity he handled all class financial affairs and advised the Seniors on many group functions.

Recently he has been appointed Social Studies Co-ordinator for grades Kindergarten through Twelve and skillfully assists and co-ordinates the programs of this curriculum for the supervising principal. In addition Mr. Hoopert has administered the High School Social Studies Department as chairman for several years and guided with many innovations the progress of the department. He also helped to inaugurate the Modified Block Team Teaching Plan in the High School involving the English and Social Studies Departments for grades 11 and 12 and became the first Chairman of this pioneer project. He has been an able consultant of the Transitive Multi-level Curriculum.

Community service has occupied much of his time with projects and articles for publication in the Community-School Dynamics Program. He has also rendered many years of sincere and faithful service to the Ministry. As a Minister he has tirelessly served his parish and Church Community with spiritual guidance and assistance. Seldom has a school and community been so fortunate as to have the competent leadership qualities, service and dedication of an individual of his calibre. With these thoughts in mind the Elizabethan Staff wishes to recognize and honor Mr. Daniel A. Hoopert and be gracious unto thee.

The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee,
and give thee peace:
In the Name of the Father, and of the Son,
and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.
